Powershell can be used to automate any system or application that supports windows scripting. A fairly small footprint, it is a quick, easy to use scripting language that is ideal for small applications that do not require very advanced features. To create a Powershell script: - Create a file with the extension of.ps1 (Which stands for Powershell Script file) - Add commands to the script - Place the commands in the file (You do not need to create a new file to add commands). Example: #!/opt/share/Text/Powershell.ps1 # Display the page title. Write-Host "Page Title is: " $TITLE #Display the page body. Write-Host "Page Body is: " $BODY #Display the page footer. Write-Host "Page Footer is: " $FOOTER #Set the variable of $title as the title of the page. TITLE = "$title" #Set the variable of $body as the body of the page. BODY = "$body" #Set the variable of $footer as the footer of the page. FOOTER = "$footer" #Execute the script. . $PSScriptPath
