Keymacro is a fully featured keyboard macro recorder and text expander. It lets you record a macro of any text input and then plays back the entire sequence of key presses in any order.

Keymacro works with any application on Mac OS X, including all major browsers. You can record any text input from within applications, including from any other window on your desktop, from a web page, from email, from websites, or from text files. Keymacro also features a powerful text expansion feature. You can record a macro with text expansion and then save that macro as a text file that you can then play back. You can use the expansion feature to change or insert any word in any document.

The expanded text is always exact, even if you use multiple words in the macro. Keymacro also lets you edit and manage your keyboard macros. You can undo and redo any macro, and you can jump to any keystroke in a macro by just typing the first letter of the key. You can also play back macros in any order by typing any letter in the expanded text to replay a keystroke. Keymacro is fast, easy to use, and can record any text input with no restrictions.

Main Features: • Supports any
